Introduction: Data Intelligence is the amalgamation of big data, data analytics and data science, which examines growing amounts of data as well as recent advances in data analytics to uncover hidden patterns, unknown correlations, market trends, customer preferences and other useful information that allow both businesses and individuals to make more-informed decisions, find what is important, visualize the results, analyze the facts, and discover new insights that were not obvious from the beginning. Given a large enough data set, fast enough processors, and a sophisticated enough algorithm, computers can begin to accomplish tasks that used to be completely left in the realm of human intelligence.

Readership: Scientists, engineers, researchers, educators, managers, and industrial professionals.

Contents: Journal of Data Intelligence (JDI) is a peer-reviewed international journal. JDI seeks original research papers, state of the art reviews, case studies, and innovative projects, on topics leveraging all aspects of Data Intelligence: from underlying technologies to applications, theory to practice, and models to algorithms.

Coverage: This journal covers a broad range from innovative topics to research findings to trends analysis on data intelligence and related theories, technologies, methods, applications, and services from all engineering, business and organizational perspectives. (more details, please see JDI home page at <http://www.rintonpress.com/journals/jdi/index.html>)

Editor in Chief: Professor Ismail Khalil, Institute of Telecooperation, Johannes Kepler University Linz, Austria

Publication schedule and Price: JDI starts its publication in 2019, with four issues each year, published in April, June, September, and December online. For 2019, the subscription rate is US$440.00.
